As always, the Toronto Film Festival out did itself at this years' '2002 Film Fest Grand Opening Party', which was held on September 05, 2002. Over 5000 people gathered at the Liberty Grand Ballroom to get a glimpse of the stars in town.

Michel Pfeiffer, Dustin Hoffman, Sean Penn, Sharon Stone and Nick Nolte, were only some of the celebrities included this years' 2002 Film Festival Grand Opening guest list.

As they are so well known to be late starters, the Liberty Grand Ballroom doors did not opened till 10:30pm and guests partied till 3:30 in the morning. The place was electric, the atmosphere was simply majestic, filled with the most beautiful people in the world dressed in the most outlandish fashions. Every body looked absolutely stunning. Limousines and cameras flashing could be seen everywhere you looked .

For 6 full hours everyone invited to this magical event felt like they had been transported to a mansion high in the Beverly Hills of Hollywood California. Anyone who was someone was there to help kick start this years' grand opening affair. There were celebrities, basketball professionals, hockey players, film producers, agents, artists, and a long list of media and public relations people in house, including our very own Celebrity Extras reporters, who were also looking particularly stylish. The ballroom was beautifully organized and fabulously decorated for the occasion. The outside garden was especially fantastic and skilfully landscaped. Well manicured with brilliantly groomed carpeted garden walk ways, complimented with hundreds of various flowers which created enchantment in the air. The party was definitely a success.

Their was plenty to drink and eat. Even the music and sound felt like a Hollywood hotspot.

People dancing from wall with over a hundred thousand square feet to find a groove in. The next film festival party is the closing ceremony which is being held at the Waterfront Hollywood Central district on Saturday, September 14, 2002.

Unfortunately, tickets are hard to come by as this event was sold out in July of 2002. For your closing film festival party review, stay tuned to, 'JP's Film Festival Closing Review,' in the Celebrity Extras Final Closing update.
